CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE, WASHINGTON, August 23, 1882. My DEAR SIE-The National Democracy MY DEAR SIB—The National Democracy subsists in spite of the adverse circumstances which have so often compelled it suffer in defense of truth, justice and the constitutional rights of the States and people, assailed by Radicalism in past and present forms. It has survived all shocks from without, as well as the blunders and selfishness of those within its folds. It will exist coming time, because it represents their in-structs and aspirations for freedom, justice and local self-government under one flag. and local self-government under one flag. It ought to represent and embrace all the producing classes, and their interests in baving a fair division between them and capital of the profits of their joint production. Whenever these classes will combine for political action, they can amply guarantee both their own safety and that of capital against the agrarianism of the hungry kords its organism contraction. the hungry hordes its greed is now hatching.

It has been by petty divisions, fostered by personal and small ambitions of political fortune-hunters, that hitherto this vast bedy has, been ruled, robbed, trampled under foot and devoured by associated wealth and mo nopolies. Whoever helps to secure the union of the producing classes for the common weal does a noble and patriotic work. The Democratic party has been and now is the great central mass of this combination. It is the nucleus on which the union of the minor masses can be practically and prompt-ly made. It is the only one that offers a hearing or a promise to greenback, civil service, anti-monopolists, railway transit and other reformers. Its motto should be: Unity in essentials, freedom in non-essentials, liber ality and justice in all things. Every Demo crat capable of recognizing these as indis-putable principles is bound by every consid-eration of patriotism to act upon them. Whothe inevitable obligation of his position every leader is doubly bound to prevent dis sensions and promote unity as the essen preservation of the people from the grasp of associated and corporate wealth and monopo-lies. This obligation exacts the subordina-ordisation as enemies of the people, whishould so be treated by every intelligen If these be, as I believe them, sound pro prominent influence to give them acceptance among all our Democratic brethren whom you can influence, young and old; and especially now, when the National Democracy have so much at stake in Ohio. Let us teac all Democrats by example that self-sacrific is indispensable to true leadership, glory and victory. I am asking this from our Statleaders in the name of our National Demo Very truly yours, W. S. ROSECRANS, Chairman Joint Executive Democratic alonal Committe. AND HERE IS PRACTICE.
